RTE Financial Services and RoboDocs enter into Reseller Agreement

Waite Park, MN, May 19, 2008 – RTE Financial Services (RTEfs), a value added reseller of web based software, and RoboDocs, the leading document preparation service for commercial real estate loans, have just announced the appointment of RTEfs as a reseller of RoboDocs's commercial loan documentation web based solutions.

Under the agreement, RTEfs will promote and sell RoboDocs' document preparation services to financial institutions. RoboDocs is a web-based document preparation service that prepares loan closing documents for multifamily, commercial real estate and construction loans. Through a partner relationship, RoboDocs also prepares additional commercial loan documents.

"We understand the complexity of commercial transactions for financial institutions," says Gary Hess, President of RTEfs. "This complexity, coupled with RoboDocs experience and expertise and the efficiencies of the web, make RoboDoc's products a logical choice for the institution," said Hess.

Gary Highland, President of RoboDocs, said: "RoboDocs services are cost effective, flexible and able to turn around sophisticated attorney-quality loan documents in as little as four hours, with a standard next business day turnaround. We've used our cutting-edge technology to take a process that was typically costing the lender thousands of dollars in legal fees and made it affordable. We are excited to partner with RTE Financial Services in order to provide the leading commercial loan document preparation solution to RTEfs clients."
